Please share your experience at WCBCS and the impact it has made in your life.

I found WCBCS because I wanted to earn my doctorate from an institution that I could afford to pay for out of pocket. I was tired of student loans and accruing debt. The goal of earning my doctorate was personal, it was for me and not required for my professional goals. When I found WCBCS, it was the best fit for me.

My experience at WCBCS was phenomenal. As a student who likes to be independent and learn at my own pace, I appreciated the self-study courses rather than moving through the program with a cohort. It allowed me to complete courses at my own pace around my job and family. The lack of specific due dates afforded me to live life and the emergencies that can come up, to complete assignments on my own schedule.

I found the content to focus on assessing what I needed to know; it disregarded fluff work for what was essential. I was able to get answers from my professors and the administration quickly. The entire process was rooted in community, even if it was self-paced.

I would highly recommend WCBCS to anyone looking for an affordable college option on their time.
